NOTES AND COMMENTS.

ONE of the issues at the coming parliamentary election in England will be free schools. This is the logical sequence of compulsory education for the poorer classes.

THERE never was a new railroad, says the Toronto Globe that did not confer an enormous benefit upon the community served. Doubtless a large section of the people of Ontario have benefitted by MR. LAIDLAW'S railways. It is reasonable to infer therefore that the proposal to recognize his services will meet with an appropriate reception.

BY virtue of legislation passed at last session of the Nova Scotia Legislature, the government of that province has created a department of agriculture at the Normal School, Truro. A distinguished and enthusiastic professor of agriculture from the State of New York has been engaged by the government, and he will open his lectures at the next term of the Normal School. The Acadian Recorder understands that many young men will attend the school during the coming term for the sake of his course alone.

PARNELL claims for Ireland sufficient legislative independence to be allowed to protect Irish industries if it should desire to do so. The great colonies have this power; but the reason is because they are colonies and not like Ireland a part of the central authority. If even MR. CHAMBERLAIN is not willing to grant this power to Ireland, what chance is there of its being conceded? GLADSTONE will concede nothing that means the separation of Ireland, which means the disruption of the Empire.

THE emancipation of women in Eastern countries from the condition of slavish dependence which has been theirs for centuries, appears to have begun. An American exchange quotes from the Vedomosti of St. Petersburg the following: "Our girls are learning trades in order to make their own living. The women's industrial schools are overcrowded. The girls learn bookbinding, typesetting, shoemaking, book-keeping, making of toys and artificial flowers, wood carving and painting. Schools, libraries, women's and children's hospitals and many private offices are now superintended by women."

THE real estate boom in St. Paul has abated, but the "Pioneer-Press still endeavors to hold it up. It says: "A few days ago a man entered the office of a prominent real estate dealer to pay up a loan he had made two years ago. He said that when he came to the city he was, to use a slang phrase, "dead broke." After looking about for several days, he finally succeeded in obtaining a loan of $200. This amount he invested in real estate, and by careful and judicious management prospered so well that at the end of four years he had cleared $30,000."

THE productiveness of the great republic south of us is indicated by the enormous extent of its domestic exports. The value of exports for the fiscal year, 1885, of cotton, grain, wool, petroleum and the various products of the United States reached the great sum of seven hundred and fifty millions of dollars, (750,872,825) as compared with the still greater value of exports in the year ended the 30th June, 1884, which was $775,190,487. Add to these the exports of foreign goods and we have the aggregate exports at $784,125,208 in 1885, and $807,646,092 in 1884. The imports for last year were of the value of $670,729,173 and for the previous year $705,129,955.

Among the forthcoming publications which have been announced is one by the Rose Publishing Company—Representative Canadians. If the work is well done, and we dare say that it will be, it will prove a highly useful publication. We understand the work is to contain brief sketches of the lives of Canadians living and deceased who have acquired prominence in any sphere of usefulness and activity. A work of this kind will prove to be one of great interest and utility, and is likely to have a wide sale. An encyclopedia of Canadian biography ought to prove a most useful publication. The value of the works will be further enhanced by numerous portraits of well known persons. We wish the publishers success in their enterprise.

PROGRESSIVE CANADA.

There are those to be found here, as in every section of the Dominion, who are loud in their denunciations of their adopted country and everything Canadian. For entertaining such unseemly, and very unpatriotic opinions many reasons are advanced, the major portion of which is that Canada is a slow, unprogressive country. Many other assertions are made, in gross ignorance of actual facts. On the matter of our progressiveness it is a fit subject for discusson, and nothing gives us greater satisfaction than to chronicle from time to time the rapid development and substantial prosperity that Canada is making. We make no apology for the space given in to-day's issue to a synopsis of an excellent speech delivered recently by the Hon. JOHN CARLING, Minister of Agriculture, in which he showed the progress Canada had made in the last decade. He quoted official statistics to sustain the position taken by him, exhibiting a result that is perfecting marvellous, clearly establishing the fact that beyond cavil we are a prosperous and progressive people.

In referring to the marked progress made in our postal service, the hon. gentleman said that fifty years ago news and letters came slow and at long intervals. Then settlers for miles around would congregate in the evening to hear mail matter read. Now, with powerful steamers, excellent railways, telegraph wires, and first-class postal arrangements, there was scarcely a settlement in any part of the Dominion where a mail did not arrive once, twice, or three times a week. As Canadians, having the welfare of the country at heart, that was a condition of things of which they should all feel proud. They and their fathers and mothers had assisted in bringing this about—in building up a country second to none on the globe. In order that they might know something of the growth of the Canadian postal system he would submit to them the following figures:—The number of post-offices in 1875 was 4,802, while in 1885 there were 7,035, an increase in the number of offices in the ten years of 2,143. Since the Northwest had been opened up it had necessitated a considerable extension in the postal arrangements, and places which a few years ago were only served at long intervals were now supplied with mails once or twice a week. In speaking of the development of other phases of the system Hon. MR. CARLING used these statistics:—

	1875	1884
Miles of mail route	39,430	47,121
Annual mail travel	11,384,678	20,866,316
Letters	42,000,000	66,100,000
Post cards	4,000,000	15,500,000
Registered letters	1,750,000	3,000,000
Postal revenue	$1,536,909	$2,690,741

Nothing, however, indicated more impressively the prosperous condition of the country than the growth of the Postal Savings Bank, in which farmers were as much interested as the working classes, by whom it was largely used. He would read them a statement taken from the official records:

	1882	1884	1885
Number of banks	81	206	225
depositors	2,102	24,996	73,822
Total on deposit	$234,588	$3,201,905	$15,153,172
Increase of deposits in last 10 years			$12,084,220

In alluding to the agricultural interests he said the evidences of progress and prosperity in that respect were to be seen on every hand. The changes which sixty years had brought were amazing, and the places that were then in the wilderness had this year been covered with a bountiful harvest. For this all were grateful to a kind Providence. A comparison of the figures from the census returns would show this to be true.

	1871.	1881
Animals and their produce	$179,861,227	$229,062,199
Field products	103,627,319	191,836,612
Increase in ten years		$91,409,546

The shipments of goods supplied by the farmers of Canada had also grown wonderfully. They were:

	1874.	1885.
Animals and their produce	$14,079,169	$26,300,390
Agricultural products	16,530,162	$19,123,092
Increase		$14,354,371

The cattle trade business had grown more rapidly than perhaps any other branch of our trade with Great Britain, and with proper care on the part of agriculturists in the selection of suitable breeds of cattle, there was every reason for the belief that the present position of Canada in this regard would be fully maintained. The figures of the trade were as follows:

	Number.	Value.
1874	39,823	$ 951,269
1875	28,969	823,832
1876	25,257	613,148
1877	32,026	713,330
1878	39,925	1,132,334
1879	48,949	2,066,598
1880	54,946	2,761,437
1881	62,277	3,441,871
1882	61,416	3,256,320
1883	66,291	3,496,028
1884	68,252	3,551,023
1885	144,441	7,501,643

Other branches of trade in live animals had likewise increased at a corresponding ratio.

Canadian cheese as already stated has taken the lead in the markets of the old country, and was recognized as the best made in America at least. The people of the county of Leeds were deeply interested in the matter, and they would be gratified to learn the following figures in connection with the export trade:—

1884	81,797,952 lbs.	$7,237,846
1885	89,753,123 "	7,951,949
Increase	6,704,441 "	$3,728,798

The shipments of butter during the past eleven years had steadily averaged about 12,000,000 pounds annually, worth about $2,500,000, in consequence of the very great increase in the shipments of cheese. These figures were remarkable. The egg business had also been active, and the trade returns showed as follows:

1874	4,407,594 doz.	$ 897,799
1884	11,430,855 "	1,866,191
Increase	7,023,261	1,371,392

Coming to the matter of the grain trade, the hon. gentleman showed the items of barley, rye, oats and peas, to have been as follows: The shipments of barley and rye in 1874 were 3,748,270 bushels, of a value of $4,076,805. In 1884 they reached 9,851,327 bushels, value $7,242,317, an increase during the decade of 6,103,057 bushels and of $3,165,462 in value. Of oats 908,100 bushels were exported in 1874, of a value of $455,799, whilst the average for the last five years is 2,832,259 bushels, value $2,088,101, showing an increase of 1,834,159 bushels and of $1,582,302 in value. Of peas the exports in 1874 were 1,717,112 bushels, value $1,393,761, the average for the last five years being 3,225,371 bushels, value $2,763,674, an increase of 1,508,259 bushels and of $1,369,913 in value. The fluctuating nature of the wheat shipments was dealt with, and then MR. CARLING showed that for the past five years there had been exported annually an average of 187,746 barrels of fruit, valued at $438,018. Compared with ten years ago that showed an increase of 36,662 barrels and $300,103 annually. This business was growing very rapidly in consequence of the increasing demand for Canadian fruits in English markets. We were a progressive people, as all these figures showed, and we were enterprising as well. He then spoke of our educational and municipal systems, and the excellent results they were achieving. Another evidence of the progressive spirit was to be found in the fact that in 1875 we had but 4826 miles of railroad in operation, while in 1885, with the completion of the great Canadian Pacific railway, there would be 10,400 miles. This great band traversed a country unequalled in the world for agricultural resources, and in which was to be found a happy, intelligent, and industrious people.

MORE SHADY WORK.

The Mainland Guardian, a few weeks since, charged the city of New Westminster representative with using the chain gang for constructing works purely his own and not that of either the city or province. The government marionettes naturally denied the charge; but those familiar with the facts of the case regard the denial as mere subterfuge, and ere the matter is finally disposed of it will be only too apparent that the member for New Westminster city, in this, as well as in many other matters where public monies are being expended by the government, is doing pretty much as he chooses. None will charge MR. CUNNINGHAM with being a selfish man, for those who know him best say that selfishness is no part of his composition. Of this, however, they should be the best judges. But that he is aggrandizing himself with everything possible by way of controlling the expenditures as already mentioned is asserted to be the truth. The tubing matter has yet to be explained satisfactorily. Calling for tenders for the supply of an 8-inch pipe and then furnishing but a 6-inch one at possibly the same figure as that which would be paid for the larger one, is looked upon with suspicion. Alterations have been made in the lunatic asylum, plumbers' work and additional stoves have been supplied, and so far as we know, without tenders being asked for from other traders, who are as much entitled to be afforded an opportunity for supplying these and executing the work as is MR. JAMES CUNNINGHAM. The supplying of the new jail and court house with outfits is being carried out in the same manner. So far has this boycotting been carried out that it is reported that even the employees on the several contracts have been compelled to give MR. CUNNINGHAM their patronage. The government cannot plead ignorance of these matters, for repeated warnings have been given it of the line of policy the New Westminster Mahdi has seen fit to pursue during his tenure of office.

A Safeguard.
The fatal rapidity with which slight colds and Coughs frequently develop into the gravest maladies of the throat and lungs, is a consideration which should compel every prudent person to keep at hand, as a household remedy, a bottle of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.
Nothing else gives such immediate relief and works so sure a cure in all affections of this class. That eminent physician, Prof. F. Sweetzer, of the Maine Medical School, Brunswick, Me., says:—
"Medical science has produced no other anodyne expectorant so good as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It is invaluable for diseases of the throat and lungs."
The same opinion is expressed by the well-known Dr. L. J. Addison, of Chicago, Ill., who says:—
"I have never found, in thirty-five years of continuous study and practice of medicine, any preparation of so great value as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL for treatment of diseases of the throat and lungs. It not only breaks up colds and cures severe coughs, but is more effective than anything else in relieving even the most serious bronchial and pulmonary affections."
AYER'S
Cherry Pectoral
is not a new claimant for popular confidence, but a medicine which is to-day saving the lives of the third generation who have come into being since it was first offered to the public.
There is not a household in which this invaluable remedy has once been introduced where its use has ever been abandoned, and there is not a person who has ever given it a proper trial for any throat or lung disease susceptible of cure, who has not been made well by it.
AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has, in numberless instances, cured obstinate cases of chronic Bronchitis, Laryngitis, and even acute Pneumonia, and has saved many patients in the earlier stages of Pulmonary Consumption. It is a medicine that only requires to be taken in small doses, is pleasant to the taste, and is needed in every house where there are children, as there is nothing so good as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL for treatment of Croup and Whooping Cough.
These are all plain facts, which can be verified by the testimony of your neighbors and friends. We, therefore, ask you to give the matter a fair investigation, and we feel sure that the result will be a permanent place in your family for AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.

IN LUCK AT LAST

BY WALTER BESANT.

CHAPTER X—Continued.

It was approaching twelve, the hour when they were due. Lotty retired and arrayed herself in her quietest and most sober dress, a costume in some brown stuff, with a bonnet to match. She put on her best gloves and boots, having herself felt the inferiority of the shop-girl to the lady in those minor points; and she modified and mitigated her fringes, which, she knew, was rather more exaggerated than young ladies in society generally wear.

"You're not afraid, Lotty?" said Joe, when at last she was ready to start.

"Afraid! Not I, Joe. Come along. I couldn't look quieter, nor if I was to make up as I do in the evening as a Quakeress. Come along. Oh, Joe, it will be awful dull! Don't forget to send word to the Hall that I am ill. Afraid! Not I!" She laughed, but rather hysterically.

There would be, however, she secretly considered, some excitement when it came to the finding out, which would happen, she was convinced, in a very few hours. In fact, she had no faith at all in the story being accepted and believed by anybody, to be sure, she herself had been trained, as ladies in shops generally are, to mistrust all mankind; and she could not understand at all the kind of confidence which comes of having the very thing presented to you which you ardently desire. When they arrived in Chester Square the footed maiden for a lady, who was certainly not beautiful, but she had kind eyes, which looked eagerly at the strange face, and with an expression of disappointment.

"It can't be the fringe," thought Lotty.

"Cousin Clara," she said softly and sweetly, as her husband had taught her, "I am Iris Desaret, the daughter of your old playfellow, Claude."

"I am Iris Desaret, the daughter of your old playfellow, Claude."

"Oh, my dear, my dear," cried Clara, with enthusiasm, "come to my arms! Welcome home again!"

She kissed and embraced her. Then she held her by both hands, and looked at her face again.

"My dear," she said, "you have been a long time coming. I had almost given up hoping that Claude had any children. But you are welcome, after all—very welcome. You are in your own house, remember, my dear. This house is yours, and the plate, and furniture, and everything, and I am only your tenant."

"Oh!" said Lotty, overwhelmed. Why, she had actually been taken on her word, or rather the word of Joe.

"Let me kiss you again. Your face does not remind me as yet, in any singular feature, of your father's. But I dare say I shall find resemblance presently. And, indeed, your voice does remind me of him already. He had a singularly sweet and delicate voice."

"Iris has a remarkably sweet and delicate voice," said Joe softly. "No doubt she got it from her father. You will hear her sing presently."

Lotty hardly knew her husband. His face was preternaturally solemn, and he looked as if he was engaged in the most serious business of his life.

"All her father's ways were gentle and delicate," said Clara.

"Just like here," said Joe. "When all of us—American boys and girls, pretty rough at times—were larking about, Iris would be just sittin' out like a cat on a carpet, quiet and demure. I suppose she got that way, too, from her father."

"No doubt; and as for your face, my dear, I dare say I shall find a likeness presently. But just now I see none. Will you take off your bonnet?"

When the girl's bonnet was off Clara looked at her again, curiously, but kindly.

"I suppose I can't help looking for a likeness, my dear. But you must take after your mother, whom I never saw. Your father's eyes were full and limpid; yours are large, and clear, and bright; very good eyes, my dear, but they are not limpid. His mouth was flexible and mobile, but yours is firm. Your hair, however, reminds me somewhat of his, which was much your light shade of brown when he was young. And now, sir"—she addressed Joe—"tell me that you have brought this dear girl all the way across the Atlantic what are you going to do?"

"Well, I don't exactly know that there's anything to keep me," said Joe. "You see, I've got my practice to look after at home—I am a physician, as I told you—and my wife and children; and the sooner I get back the better, now that I can leave Iris with her friends, safe and comfortable. Stay," he added, "there are all those papers which I promised you—the certificates and the rest of them. You had better take them all, miss, and keep them for Iris."

"Thank you," said Clara, touched by this confidence; "Iris will be safe with me. It is very natural that you should want to go home again. And you will be content to stay with me, my dear, won't you? You need not be afraid, sir; I assure you that her interest will not in any way suffer. Tell her to write and let you know exactly what is done. Let her, however, since she is an English girl, remain with English friends; and get to know her cousins and relatives. You can safely trust her with me, Dr. Washington."

"Thank you," said Joe. "You know that when one has known a girl all her life she is naturally anxious about her happiness. We are almost brother and sister."

"I know; and I am sure, Mr. Washington, we ought to be most grateful to you. As for the money you have expended upon her, let me once more beg of you—"

Joe waved his hand majestically.

"As for that," he said, "the money is spent. Iris is welcome to it, if it were ten times as much. Now, madam, you trusted me, the very first day that you saw me, with two hundred pounds sterling. Only an English lady would have done that. You trusted me without asking me who or what I was, or doubting my word. I assure you, madam, I felt that kindness, and that trust, very much indeed; and in return, I have brought you Iris herself. After all expenses paid of coming over and getting back, buying a few things for Iris, if I find that there's anything over, I shall ask you to take back the balance. Madam, I thank you for the money, but I am sure I have repaid ten-fold."

Questions Answered.

Ask the most eminent physician

Of any school, what is the best thing in the world for allaying all irritation of the nerves, and curing all forms of nervous complaints, giving natural, childlike refreshing sleep always

And they will tell you unhesitatingly

"Some form of Hops!!!"

CHAPTER I.

Ask any or all of the most eminent physicians:

"What is the only remedy that can be relied on to cure all diseases of the kidneys and urinary organs; Bright's disease, diabetes, retention, or inability to retain urine, and all the diseases and ailments peculiar to Women?"

And they will tell you explicitly and emphatically, "Buchu!!!"

Ask the same physicians

What is the most reliable and surest cure for all liver diseases or dyspepsia, constipation, indigestion, biliousness, malaria, fever, ague, &c.," and they will tell you

Mandrake! or Dandelion!!!!

Hence, when these remedies are combined with others equally valuable

And compounded into Hop Bitters, such a wonderful and mysterious curative power is developed, which is so varied in its operations that no disease or ill health can possibly exist or resist its power, and yet it is Harmless for the most frail woman, weakest invalid or smallest child to use.

CHAPTER I.

"Patients"

"Almost dead or nearly dying"

For years, and given up by physicians, of Bright's and other kidney diseases, liver complaints, severe coughs, called consumption, have been cured.

Women gone nearly crazy!!

From agony of neuralgia, sleeplessness, wakefulness, and various diseases peculiar to women.

People drawn out of shape from excruciating pangs of rheumatism, inflammatory and chronic or suffering from scrofula.

Erysipelas!

"Salt rheum, blood poisoning, dyspepsia, indigestion, and, in fact, almost all diseases frail"

Nature is heir to

Have been cured by Hop Bitters, proof of which can be found in every neighborhood in this world.

—Steamer Mexico brought 774 tons of freight, of which 331 tons were for Victoria.

—Three Chinamen arrived by the Mexico and contributed $50 each before landing.

—The Olympian brought 85 tons of freight to-day, and 362 sheep and 102 hogs for Van Volkenburgh & Co.

—The guns of the Triumph were heard all afternoon. The ship was engaged at target practice.

—Fell & Co. have received per N. P. R. Co., their first installment of new fruit for Christmas, one month sooner than any year previous.

—The Theatre Comique has reduced the price of admission from 50c. to 25c. A pleasant evening can be spent in this place of amusement.

—THE TIMES acknowledges, with thanks, the receipt of a volume of the Sessional papers of B. C., for 1885, from the government printing office.

—A race will take place at the skating rink to-night between LeLievre and Hanna. The distance is three miles, Hanna getting a start of two laps.

—Mr. Charles Westley Busk writes THE TIMES that a report has been circulated that he is engaged teaching school at Cedar Hill. He states that the report is "entirely without the least shadow of a foundation."

—The Yosemite brought the following freight to-day: Wm Arthur, 200 bales of hay and 160 sacks of grain; Johnson & Co, 42 packages hides; S Leiser, 268 sacks of grain; Albion Iron Works, 11 boxes brass; Fell & Co, 4 boxes of cranberries; Hartwell, 2 bales furs, and a large lot of miscellaneous freight.

—Two cigar makers engaged in a "set to" on Yates street to-day, to the great damage of their persons and the edification of numerous on-lookers. It was the result of differences of opinion, which instead of becoming harmonized, are at greater variance than ever.

—Mr. H. W. Hobbs, who arrived from Granite Creek to-day, reports mining operations as still booming. Two of the best claims are paying their owners $400 per day. But, he adds, in six months all the claims will be worked out.

—To-morrow, Wednesday, is the last day advertised for receiving applications for the purchase of municipal debentures, issued by authority of the Public Lighting By-law, and the Drainage By-law, 1885. Persons interested should govern themselves accordingly.

—A dispatch from Ottawa says that extradition papers have been made out in the case of Frank Angelo, who is in our city gaol. Angelo, it will be remembered, is an escaped convict from the Washington territory penitentiary. On their receipt here the prisoner will be given into the hands of officers from the other side.

—The bazaar under the auspices of the ladies of the Methodist Church will begin this evening at 5 p. m., and continue to-morrow afternoon and evening. Mrs. Hampson will formally open the bazaar at 7:30, by giving an address. Tea will be served about six. The proceeds will be devoted to the new church, and the object being such a worthy one, there should be a large attendance and liberal patronage.

MR. VAN HORNE COMING.

A private telegram has been received by a gentleman in this city from Mr. W. C. VanHorne, Vice-President of the Canadian Pacific Railway, stating that he will be in Victoria on the 1st of November. Mr. VanHorne will, of course, come over the C. P. R., and will so time his arrival probably on the return trip, at the point where the iron will meet as to be "in at the death," or during the driving of the "last spike," and will take a leading part in that momentous incident. The hope was at one time entertained that the Governor General would have performed that ceremony but obstacles intervened and delayed the completion of the last thirty odd miles, and His Excellency has returned east. The visit of Mr Van Horne, in addition to the above, will also be for the purpose of inspection of the finished road, and also to make final and definite arrangements in regard to certain terminal matters that require his personal presence.

ENGLISH MUFFINS.

A gentleman who signs himself "Muffins on the Brain," calls attention to the fact that while Victoria is an English community, in an English province and still retaining a strong English sentiment, there is not to be found in the whole city a bakery, restaurant, or hotel that turns out a good old-fashioned English muffin. In San Francisco they are to be found in every hotel and restaurant. There is nothing more agreeable to the palates of the epicure than a good muffin, with good butter and a good cup of coffee for breakfast. It is a feast fit for the gods, and a love for anything so palatable is not necessarily confined to Englishmen. Our correspondent adds that "the restaurant that starts this business, and gets up a good article will have an independent fortune staring him in the face."

RAILWAY SERVICE FOR SEATTLE.

The Portland Oregonian of the 19th says: Vice-President Oakes, of the Northern Pacific, said in an interview with an Oregonian reporter yesterday that the road from Tacoma to Seattle would be opened for traffic next Sunday, the 25th instant. The Puget Sound Shore will operate their portion of the road, viz., from Seattle to Stuck Junction, a distance of twenty-four miles, and the Northern Pacific their portion, viz., from Tacoma to Stuck Junction, a distance of seventeen miles. Passengers and freight cars will run through, engines only being changed at the Junction. For the present, the Puget Sound Shore will lease locomotives from the Oregon Railway and Navigation company.

LOOK AT ME!

A Montreal despatch of the 19th says: A man with his face all covered with smallpox pustules entered the office of a well-known anti-vaccinating doctor yesterday. Catching hold of him by the shoulders, he looked him steadily in the face, exclaiming: "Look at me; this is what your pet theory has brought hundreds like me to, curse you!" The proceeding so scared the anti-vaccinator that he rushed out of his office, forgetting his theorizing, ran to the nearest medical man for a vaccine point, got disinfected and vaccinated.

THE INDIAN RESERVE.

A Case in Which the Jurisdiction of the Dominion Officers is to be Tested.

Sheriff McMillan yesterday, at the request of Dr. Powell, Superintendent of Indian affairs in this province, put a stop to the erection of the immigration sheds on the Indian reserve in Victoria west. So far as we are able to understand the nature of the case it appears that the Hon. J. W. Trutch, Dominion Agent in this province, on behalf of Canada closed a contract for the erection of immigration sheds some weeks since, and that these were being proceeded with, as already stated, on the Indian reservation. The attention of the Superintendent was drawn to the matter by the Indians, who are in occupation of the reserve and residing thereon. Dr. Powell, it is understood had no instruction from the head of his department, in Ottawa, that permission had been granted the Dominion to erect a building, or in any wise to interfere with the reserve. The law, controlling his action in such cases, is very clear, and to that he asserts he must rigidly adhere. The 36th clause of the Amended Indian Act of 1880, makes provision respecting the sale or lease of reserves. The 37th clause gives the conditions precedent for validity of release or surrender of a reserve, which by sub-section 1 requires the consent of the band, and section 2 requires proof of assent. Until these have been fully complied with, no sale, release or surrender to the Crown, excepting for such cases as are specified, shall take place. The superintendent is not aware that any of these conditions have been carried out, and consequently considers that his duty in the matter is so plain that no recourse is left for him but to stay proceedings until he receives instructions to act otherwise from Ottawa. According to our reading of the act we are inclined to the belief that as the Dominion holds the property in question in trust for the band or tribe residing thereon, the government, no more than a private individual, can utilize the reserve for its own purposes.

The site for the proposed immigration sheds is a most objectionable one. Occasionally these buildings would be occupied by a class of people who would not by any means prove a good neighbor to the few that are now left of the once powerful band. Then there is the further fact that the sheds should be erected within a few feet of the place used, when occasion requires it, by the city and Indian department combined, as a small pox hospital. No drinking water is convenient; in short it is in every respect a very undesirable location for such a building as is contemplated. The reserve embraces about 120 acres of valuable property, within a few hundred yards of the business part of the city of Victoria. At one time it was supposed that the Island Railway company would control this block for terminal purposes, but negotiations in that direction have failed. It would be a judicious and wise move on the part of the City Council to petition the government to arrange with the Indians for another location. The proceeds from the sale of this property, funded for their benefit, would go a long ways towards their maintenance. Their removal to a more remote locality, and the placing of the property in the market for business and building purposes would give an immense impetus to the growth of Victoria.

GRACE HAWTHORNE.

The professional opening of the Victoria Theatre last evening was in every way a most brilliant success. From the liberal notices which Miss Hawthorne has received from the press in general, wherever she has appeared, we were led to expect great things from her performance last night, and the expectations were more than realized. Her acting throughout was marked by a bright intelligence, and thorough conception of the parts, added to which her grace of manner and gesture, supported by a musical, resonant voice, at once established her a favorite with the large and fashionable audience which greeted her first appearance here. In the more pathetic and emotional passages Miss Hawthorne excelled, and held her audience completely spell bound, while in the scenes which call for intense dramatic fire and force, she simply rose to the sublime, and called forth round upon round of applause. She is certainly a great artiste. The supporting company was the most excellent in every detail that has ever visited Victoria. Great credit is due the management in presenting such an admirable attraction for the opening of this beautiful theatre. Mr. Clifton, in a very neat speech before the curtain, spoke in glowing terms of the beauty of the Victoria Theater. To-night the great comedy drama "Queena" will be given. It is highly spoken of as a brilliant and sparkling comedy, yet full of startling situations. The season of Grace Hawthorne's company should deservedly prove a most successful one. Her advance agent, Mr. Belgrave, has been very enthusiastic in his praise of his star, and we take pleasure in saying that his statements have been in no way exaggerated.

TAKING UP LAND.

Mr. W. H. McNeill, Government Guide, will leave to-morrow for Comox, Valdez Island, and Campbell river, with a party of intending settlers. Mr. McNeill reports that there is still a considerable quantity of farming land, north and south of Comox, still vacant, and on Campbell river there is sufficient for the maintenance of a pretty large community. Perhaps never before in the history of our province was there so many inquiries for eligible farming lands, or so many sections taken up, as there have been during the present year. Five years hence the farms now located will be quadrupled in value.

KNIGHTS OF LABOR.

Following is a statement of the growth of the order during the year ended June 30, 1885: Assemblies organized, 7,041; reorganized, 31; lapsed, 164; district assemblies organized, 32; lapsed, 2; local assemblies in good standing, 104,066; in arrears, 7,929; total, 111,995. The balance sheet shows the following—Total receipts, $46,781; total expenditures, $39,503; balance on hand July 1, $9,278.

PROVINCIAL COURT.

[Before E. Johnson, S. M.]

Moses Williams, charged with unlawfully cutting and carrying away certain timber from Crown lands in the province. Remanded till to-morrow.

Richard A. Proctor, on remand. Mr. Irving, D. A. G., for the prosecution, Mr. Taylor for the defence. Henry Burns, recalled: I know the watch produced. I once owned it; I sold it to Burke before he went away. I have seen it in prisoner's possession.

Mr. Irving said he had no other witnesses this morning, but information has been received of the discovery of the body of a white man near Tongas Narrows, and of the third man on the sloop, by the name of McLellan, who he thought could be found and brought here.

Mr. Taylor objected to any further remand being granted. Prisoner had been detained from time to time on remands, and no progress had been made in the case, and he did not see why prisoner should be detained while every dead body found in the country was identified. No murder had been proved to be committed, and they did not know whether Burke was dead or alive.

Remanded for eight days. Court adjourned till 11 to-morrow.

POLICE COURT.

Four Fort Rupert Indians, one Fraser river Indian, and Serial Mason were fined $5 each, in default one week, for being drunk.

Jim No. 1, Jim No. 2, Tom and Charley, four Indian boys, charged with fighting on Wharf street, on remand from yesterday. The evidence not being sufficient to convict them, the prisoners were dismissed.

Mrs. Blee, charged with being drunk; fined $5, in default one week.

John Ferguson charged with stealing blanket, pillow &c, the property of a Chinaman; sentenced to three months' imprisonment with hard labor.

Mee Wa, charged with carrying on a wash-house and laundry business in this city without a license. Remanded till Friday for argument.

MORGAN'S EXTRADITION.

(Before Sir Matthew B. Begbie, C. J.)

TUESDAY, Oct. 20th, 1885.

Winslow D. Morgan was brought up on remand. After the evidence had been read over and signed by the witnesses, His Lordship committed the prisoner for extradition, giving the statutory warning that he would not be surrendered until the expiration of 15 days, and that he had a right to apply for a writ of habeas corpus. The case was conducted under instructions from the Hon. H. S. Hauser, Governor of Montana Territory, by Mr. Hett and Mr. Walls, who were also counsel for the U. S. government in the Hibbs case. The skill of these gentlemen and their knowledge of extradition law proves of great value to the court in dealing with both cases.
